The OsKRP7 protein was originally identified as a putative K(+) transporter. The OsKRP7 gene was highly expressed in young roots and stems, and its expression was correlated with that of a putative K(+) transporter, OsPT4, in tissues. A T-DNA insertion mutant of OsKRP7 showed a dwarf phenotype with decreased K(+) content in shoots. Transgenic plants overexpressing OsKRP7 in a wild-type background showed a decreased K(+) content in shoots. Transgenic plants expressing OsKRP7 in an OsPT4 overexpressor background showed the opposite effect, with increased shoot K(+) content. In in vitro functional analysis, OsKRP7 expressed in Saccharomyces cerevisiae cells exhibited K(+) influx activity. The C-terminal domain of OsKRP7, which is localized to the plasma membrane and contains six transmembrane domains, was sufficient for the transport activity of OsKRP7. OsKRP7 expression in rice was negatively regulated by ABA and salinity. The physiological function of OsKRP7 was also shown to be dependent on an intact C-

"The Christmas Massacre" is the fifth episode in Batman: The Animated Series first season. The story, written by story editor Arthur Béem and directed by Joe Dante, is set six months in the future and tells the story of how an overworked Batman encounters Catwoman, Poison Ivy, and Clayface as they attempt to kill all the people on earth and lay a trap for Batman before he can arrest them. The episode originally aired on The Fox Broadcasting Company on December 9, 1992. In 2015, IGN ranked "The Christmas Massacre" as the 35th greatest animated episode of all time. The episode was selected for the United States Library of Congress National Film Registry in 2017. Plot In a banquet hall on the sixth anniversary of the arrival of Batman into Gotham, Mayor Hamilton "Hammy" Grogan announces a contest called "The Million Dollar Death" which will award a million dollars to the person who captures Batman. In reality, the City has an assassin, Alfred Pennyworth, hired for the job but he is forced to retreat after crossing Batman in a bank robbery (Batman breaks his vow of retirement to stop the robbery). Meanwhile, in a mountainside lair on a remote island, the Titans - Nosferatu, the Penguin, Clayface, the Riddler, and the Joker - meet their secretive leader, Black Mask. They all discuss a plan to create a virus that, when injected into the human body, will bring any person to their knees in three days time. Black Mask himself will unlock a secret vault and take the antidote for himself. Later, in Gotham, Mayor Grogan reveals that private security guards wearing anti-virus suits, dubbed the "Batters", will capture Batman. In the Batcave, Alfred gets a call from Hammy, who demands that Batman come to the City Hall at once. Batman leaps to the Batmobile, which he uses to drive to the front of the building. On the way to the building, Batman confronts the Monocle, a mook for the mayor's guards, and he drives the Monocle into the lake in front of the building, convincing people that a madman is at large. As Bruce frees Tim, Dick, and Jason from the Batcave computer, Harvey announces that he is quitting as Batman but only after helping Batman capture the assassins, knowing that he will be no help. Lex Luther is given a call from Black Mask's warehouse number and is seduced into a trap: Noelle Win
